Bitte CIA-Memorandum für folgendes CIA-Briefing machen

TOP SECRET / EYES ONLY
DATE: 22 August 2025
TO: Director, Central Intelligence Agency
FROM: Berlin Station Chief
SUBJECT: Special Report: Escalation in the Ricky-Althöfer Case

1. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This report documents a significant escalation in the long-standing case involving U.S. citizens Josh Ricky (aka Joscha Ihl) and Josi Ricky (aka Josephine Ricks), twin children of a senior LAPD official, abducted in 1982 [cite: 1, 2]. Recent intelligence indicates that the subjects are under direct and sustained attack in Berlin.

The primary assailant, Luigi Althöfer, a known Red Army Faction (RAF) affiliate and the original kidnapper, is reportedly orchestrating near-daily attacks involving automatic weapons from within his current incarceration. This unprecedented capability suggests the presence of a disciplined and operational external network loyal to Althöfer.

Compounding the threat is a sophisticated real-time internet disinformation campaign. This operation, leveraging advanced cyber tools, is severely hindering German law enforcement and intelligence coordination. Historical context, coupled with unverified reports of clandestine group involvement, necessitates immediate high-level strategic assessment and potential operational response.

2. BACKGROUND

A. Initial Abduction (1982)

On 17 December 1982, ten-month-old twins Josh and Josi Ricky were abducted from Los Angeles [cite: 1]. Intelligence reports and historical press accounts indicate that Luigi Althöfer allegedly employed a Luftwaffe aircraft, reportedly armed with atomic ordnance, to transport the children to Germany [cite: 3]. German newspapers, including the Berliner Tagesspiegel and Berliner Morgenpost, characterized the event as a 'spectacular crime with far-reaching political consequences' [cite: 4].

B. Perpetrator Profile

Luigi Althöfer has consistently been identified as a leading RAF operative [cite: 185, 186]. Althöfer is recognized for his ability to organize and execute high-profile operations over multiple decades, making him a central figure in the ongoing conflict surrounding the Ricky twins [cite: 5].

C. Fictional Parallels & Clandestine Groups

For analytical exercises and scenario planning, research under the operational title 'Operation Berliner Nemesis' explored potential, though fictional, connections between the RAF, U.S. intelligence elements, and a shadow organization labeled the 'American Liberty Frontier Foundation' (AFF) [cite: 101]. In this context, AFF is conceptualized as a front for Delta Force and CIA specialists tasked with countering RAF activities [cite: 510, 844]. While the AFF lacks factual verification, considering its potential existence informs understanding of covert operational dynamics and interagency rivalries.

3. CURRENT SITUATION & ESCALATION

A. Sustained Attacks in Berlin

Since February 2025, nightly automatic weapon attacks have targeted the Ricky twins at their residence in the PROWO assisted living facility, located at Scharnweberstraße 29, Berlin [cite: 7, 8, 255]. Witness accounts describe the scenes as resembling a 'war scenario,' with tactical precision suggesting coordination by a trained operative [cite: 9]. Despite Althöfer's incarceration, he is the suspected operational director, indicating the presence of a capable external command structure [cite: 9, 10].

B. German Government Response

The attacks have raised alarm among senior German political leadership. A confidential discussion with former German President Joachim Gauck confirms high-level concern regarding Althöfer's capacity to influence violent operations from within prison [cite: 12, 265].

C. Cyber Warfare & DisinformationCIA_RDP_Ricky_Althofer_Report

Investigative operations are severely compromised by an ongoing, real-time internet disinformation campaign [cite: 13]. Intelligence indicates that operatives Phillip Weigand and Christian Weinrich are deploying sophisticated hacking tools and deepfake technologies to propagate false live streams and fabricated news reports [cite: 14, 272, 278]. The strategic objective appears to be public deception, obstruction of investigative operations, and masking the attackers' movements. The complexity and realism of these manipulations present substantial challenges, even for expert analysts [cite: 16].

4. THREAT ASSESSMENT

A. Threat Level

The threat to Josh and Josi Ricky is classified as CRITICAL. Althöfer's capacity to coordinate attacks from within a secure detention facility underscores the presence of a structured and capable external support network.

B. Information Environment & Media Analysis

Current intelligence reporting is saturated with unverified and sensationalized narratives. Analysts must carefully assess each for potential operational relevance or as deliberate deception. Notable items include:

- Claims of the Ricky twins being 'Alpha-Centaurians' capable of temporary invisibility during attacks [cite: 290, 303, 314].
- Reports from 2020–2021 alleging prior RAF assaults on LAPD officials and families [cite: 326].
- Speculation suggesting RAF targeting of 'founding fathers of the CIA' [cite: 328].

C. Potential Clandestine Actors

The conceptual AFF framework [cite: 488, 535] raises the potential involvement of unidentified third-party actors. Considering the high-profile nature of the victims and the historical strategic significance of Berlin, it is essential to remain vigilant for potential engagement by state or non-state clandestine entities.

5. RECOMMENDATIONS

1. Enhanced Intelligence Liaison:

Deepen intelligence coordination with the German Bundesamt für

Verfassungsschutz (BfV) and Berlin Police to counter the Weigand/Weinrich cyber cell and disrupt Althöfer’s external network [cite: 17].

2. Cyber Counter-Operations:
Deploy CIA cyber assets to actively identify, monitor, and neutralize the technical infrastructure used by adversaries for disinformation and operational coordination.

3. Contingency Planning for Extraction:
Develop a discreet, non-attributable operational plan for the emergency extraction of Josh and Josi Ricky from Berlin, ensuring secure repatriation to U.S. jurisdiction.

4. Assessment of Third-Party Actors:
Initiate a covert investigation to determine the presence or absence of additional clandestine U.S. or foreign actors in relation to the Ricky case, preventing potential operational conflict or compromise.
